

Name:	John Cochrane
Family:	Married with two children
Education:	Educated at Coatbridge High School and Allan Glens in Glasgow
Career:	Analytical Chemist with the Glenboig Fireclay Company before moving to a career in the Royal Naval Medical Services. Retired as Head of Procurement for the West Lothian NHS Trust a few years ago.
Political history:	Elected in 2007 as councillor for Livingston North Ward
Particular aim / interest	Athletics and carriage driving
Other interests/hobbies:	Played rugby but now enjoys the sport as a spectator. Enjoys “time out” in the Cowal Peninsula at his family’s residential caravan and uses this as an opportunity to reflect and refresh the batteries. Also enjoys the close proximity to nature, its solitude and abundance of wild life and the opportunity to watch the ships pass by on the River Clyde.
